Document Summary

Document Type: International Agreement

This document is an agreement between the Republic of India and the Republic of Italy concerning the transfer of sentenced persons. It outlines the conditions under which a person sentenced in one country can be transferred to the other to serve their sentence, aiming to facilitate social rehabilitation. Key articles define terms, establish general principles for transfer, designate central authorities for processing requests, and specify conditions that must be met for a transfer to occur. The agreement also addresses the continued enforcement of sentences, review of judgments, and the possibility of pardon, amnesty, or commutation. It ensures that sentenced persons are informed of the agreement's substance and legal consequences.

Overall Risk Assessment: Medium Risk

Risk Drivers

- Potential for disputes regarding interpretation of 'social rehabilitation'.
- Complexity in adapting sentences between legal systems.
- Dependence on cooperation between central authorities.
- Risk of non-compliance with domestic laws regarding pardon or amnesty.
